To Whom It May Concern:

On December of 2004, Jackson Middle School contracted Anthony Gonzales, also known as Litarodi, as a motivational speaker. His presentation focused on the importance of staying in school and living a drug-free life, including emphasis on the damage violence does to a young person's life using examples from his personal experience. Furthermore, Anthony's attitude and confidence demonstrated a genuine understanding of what our students go through on a daily basis. His presentation was right on target for our students who were able to understand him on a personal level. Anthony is an excellent speaker, motivator, and person who left such an impact on our students that they have already begun making changes in their lives.

Sincerely,

Sylvia De Leon
